

Eddie Livingstone

Woody Allen site review:

My creative director liked the site but noted the areas that I have yet to complete (News tab, as well as overall polish)

She also thought i should experiment more with type as I am currently using the default type face

She also suggested possibly playing around with the background color for the different tabs, if I were to do this it would probably be subdued shades of sepia